We are developing and improving the Quality and Environment Management System.

Our current business operations and new enterprises are undertaken in line with all binding legal requirements. We also respect our Client's requirements and directions in line with due care. According to the principle of balanced growth we keep equilibrium in the nature as well as care about aesthetic values of the environment.

Conscious of the company's cost-effective operations and fulfilment of our Clients; all requirements, we are continuously monitoring all processes in the company. In this way we identify potential threats for the quality of our products or the natural environment well in advance and efficiently implement programs preventing their effects.

Every year we review the company's current operations. The review concerns both environmental and quality aspects of the company's actions. We establish and realize subsequent objectives and assignments in order to satisfy our Client's expectations, optimize processes within the company and simultaneously minimize the adverse influence of our actions on the natural environment.

In order to fluently achieve the established objectives we are continuously raising the quality and environmental awareness of our employees as well as of those working for companies which support us and our business contractors. We create the sense of responsibility for all actions of Visscher-Caravelle in them by passing on information about the Quality and Environment Management System on a regular basis and the influence of all of us on its stable growth.
